Master By Research

Selinus University is a global institution providing distance learning programs. It includes 7 faculties and nearly 200 study programs so as to meet adult students' needs; we assume that our potential students are willing to find a job in industry and trade or to become professionals or companies' titleholders.

Selinus University has a clear vision of its work, study programs and our international students' needs. We claim that research, innovation and professionalism are the basis of every life and work project.

Through the APEL (Accreditation Prior Experiential Learning) validation system, our institution is engaged in the students' profiles evaluations in order to outline professionalism and skills of its potential graduates, hopefully, the future global market leaders.

The modern job market operates on an increasingly larger scale; this awareness strengthens our conviction that any study project has to be supported by precise strategies useful to the students.

Selinus University strategic vision

The main objective of Selinus University is to strengthen the professional and academic profile of adult students willing to access jobs, enhance their career or engage in new projects implementation.

Our students are often managers or already qualified professionals. They can benefit from our distance learning system since they won't need stealing time to their jobs nor neglecting their families.

We trust every adult student's professional goals awareness and we strongly believe in people's capacity for self-determination. Carrying out a distance program without campus attending commitment will let the student prove his/her personality, improve his/her self-esteem and achieve the set goals.

For this reason, we have implemented seven faculties and almost two hundred study programs, many of which are "alternative" to traditional universities; it will be easy for the student to find the right path to professional success.

What is a Master of Philosophy “by Research” via distance Learning

The Master of Philosophy (MPhil) is a post-graduate Master by Research consisting in carrying out an academic research in almost total autonomy; the research will culminate in a Final Dissertation (at least 90 pages).

Since admission requirements are different in each country according to their different frameworks, there is a substantial lack of coordination. The result is that each university has its own system. In order to obtain a Selinus distance learning MPhil Degree by Research, 40 Uniselinus Credits are required in addition to a Bachelor's or other Master's degree. We welcome applications from students who have relevant experience and eagerness for successful course completion. That is why Selinus can admit a candidate student by APEL (Accreditation Prior Experiential Learning) system, provided that the validated credits are coherent with the chosen discipline.

The Master of Philosophy (MPhil) represents a high level academic specialization and allows direct access to a PhD. Thanks to their experience in the field, candidates acquire a high disciplinary specialization, precise knowledge and educational experience; all those elements will merge into the final Master thesis. The achievement of Selinus University MPhil will rely on the thesis evaluation content and structure. Besides that, subject originality, structure, candidate's autonomy in carrying out the research will be evaluated. To access a MPhil program a 30 years old minimum age is required (it is necessary to turn 30 within the year of enrolment).

Costs

The MPhil program has a much lower cost than a "traditional" Master's that is usually spread over two or three years. In fact, each credit has a cost of 60 euros, compared to about 150 euros of a traditional program. Since 40 credits are needed, the all-inclusive program cost will be € 2.000 euros to be possibly split up to a maximum of 12 consecutive monthly installments.

Candidate profile

Selinus University's distance learning Master of Philosophy by Research is perfect for graduates and professionals from various disciplines who wish to increase their academic credentials obtaining a prestigious postgraduate degree. Candidates, professionals, entrepreneurs, managers and simple students will have to show a high level of flexibility and appreciation of the distance method. Selinus University is a non-formal Distance University that enjoys an excellent international reputation. However, its study programs are suitable for many purposes but not for all, so we recommend students to check the degree usability for professional purposes in their country before enrolment.

Accreditation - Education Quality - Reputation

The accreditation process is non-governmental and voluntary. A distance education University normally appeals to a private, regional or professional association for accreditation; when any University applies, the accrediting institution performs an overall assessment and grants the accreditation only when deemed appropriate. Note that each accrediting organization has its own accreditation criteria. No worldwide accreditation standards are currently available for any distance learning higher education institutions such as Selinus University. A distance learning degree is useful for many purposes but not for all. It gives access to many professions and jobs while others require government-accredited diplomas. For this reason, before enrolling, we suggest our potential students to verify the correct degree use in their country. Professional reputation depends on people's skills as well as acquired know-how; that is only virtually represented by the obtained degree. We have to bear in mind that any company relies on problem-solving skills and competences owned by aspiring employees rather than on their degree.

For most companies, the completion of a distance university program is as valid as attending courses on a formal university campus. In fact, completing a distance degree course demonstrates an unquestionable level of will, responsibility, motivation and personal organization. These skills are highly valued in the workplace and explain why HR managers do not value employees earning degrees only.
